Congolese, UN Troops Battle in Congo Port

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo
— U.N. Sudanese troops and Congolese soldiers fought a gun battle in the Atlantic port of Bana today, the U.N. reported.
U.N. tensions reached new heights in Leopoldville.

U.N. reports said
a Congolese soldier was killed.
In Leopoldville all U.N. non-military personnel were ordered to leave their offices early and go home to avoid the possibility of clashes with Congolese troops.
Congolese troops launched a series of attacks on U.N. personnel Sunday and the battle was slowly getting back normal when the news came from Banana.

The incident came at a time
when the Congolese government was at odds with the U.N.
command over a demand that it
allow to guard Leopoldville
port.

The dispute was a symptom of tensions between the U. N.
command and President Joseph Kasavubu's government. The United Nations refused to withdraw its airport guards in favor of the Congolese. The U. N. command said it has to guard its own communication.

Kasavubu has been reluctant to operate with the United Nations. He has demanded the recall of Rajeshwar Dayal, the U. N. Congo chief, on the ground that Dayal has allowed control of leftist forces in unlawful to spread over a large area of the country.

Kasavubu is following a policy of conciliation with the Congo's
former anti-Communist leaders.
President Moise Tshombe of Ka-nga Province and Albert Kalonji, chief of the mining state of Katanga, are among them.

In a conciliatory move Thursday, Interior Minister Cyril Adoula said a number of political prisoners will be freed by Kasavubu's government. He did not identify them but said prisoners will be examined and they will be released if their crimes
are minor.

All was reported quiet in Lulu-abourg, scene of the worst mas-
acre since the tumultuous days
of independence last summer.
United Nations reported
Congolese troops killed 44 civilians
in the city about 400 miles east of Leopoldville.

The troops, owing allegiance to Kasavubu, went on a rampage
after three of their comrades
were killed by a mob of supporters of the late Patrice Lumumba, slain Congolese leader. The violence, on Tuesday night and Wednesday, followed the sudden evacuation of the town by troops from Stanleyville. U. N. Ghanaian troops maintained order after the ceasing stopped. Nevertheless new uprisings from the rebels in Lu-luabourg, were feared.

ArkLa Contract Gets Approval

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission Thursday ratified a contract
between Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and Arkansas Electric Cooperative Corp. on the price of gas to be supplied a 50,000 kilowatt generating plant the co-op
plans to build near Ozark.

The PSC also approved a proposed exchange of customers and operating areas between Arkansas Power & Light Co. and Craighead Electric Co-operative Corp.
in and near Trumann.

School Leader Stands Behind AEA Program

By LEON HATCH
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sen.
Clarence Bell of Parkin, leader of school forces in the Senate, said today he is still standing behind a 9.72 state contribution proposed in an Arkansas Education Association
plan to modify the Teacher Retirement System.

Bell's statement seemed to run
counter to continued speculation
that there might be a compromise between the AEA and Gov. Orval E. Faubus on their conflicting plans for revising the retirement system.

Faubus originally proposed that the state put up 5 per cent of teachers' salaries to match contributions of teachers.

This plan has since been modified to provide a state contribution of $3.7 million and $3.9 million during the next two fiscal years. Five per cent would yield about $3 million a year.

Faubus and Bell conferred for about an hour this morning but both declined to talk about their conference.

Later, in the Senate, Sen. John
Eldridge of Augusta brought up a House bill which would increase the minimum monthly benefits for retired teachers from $60 to $65.

Bell spoke for the bill.
Although the measure is not directly involved in the retirement controversy, Bell said during his remarks that it would cost the system some additional money.

"That's one reason why I want the 9.72 plan adopted to assure a sound retirement system," he said.

Eldridge had called up the bill
during a period devoted to non-controversial measures and when it became apparent that some controversy might develop, he withdrew it from consideration temporarily.

Bell Thursday failed in an attempt to have the Faubus backed retirement bill made a special order of business for Monday.

Both an AEA bill and the Faubus bill have been passed in the House and the Faubus bill is now pending in the Senate.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus met for an hour today with Sen. Clarence Bell of Parkin, a leader of school forces, then told newsmen he would have
"no comment on anything."

Faubus, obviously irritated, refused to say whether he would sign a $60 million construction
bond issue bill which he sponsored.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House adjourned today at 1:20
p. m. today without voting on a controversial truck weight bill
after two filibusters by Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsen.

House Delays Vote on Truck Weights

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House decided today to vote on a truck tax bill before it votes on a truck weight measure.
The House then armed opponents of the bill with a major delaying weapon by approving Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dal-sen's motion to adjourn at 2 p. m.
until 1 p. m. Monday. The motion was adopted at 12:10 p. m. and there was little doubt that Van Dalsen and his cohorts would be able to delay for an hour and 50 minutes.

The weight bill had been scheduled first, but a motion was made to consider the tax measure. After an hour of parliamentary skirmishing the House voted 57-32 to take up the tax bill first.

Van Dalsen earlier had staged a 33-minute filibuster, aimed at keeping the weight bill from coming to a vote.

Bodies of 22 Miners Trapped by Blast Brought to Surface

Intense Heat Slows Rescue in Indiana

By ROBERT D. LEWIS AND
PETER VON STEIN

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—
Twenty-two miners died in a flash
explosion deep in a coal shaft
Thursday night. Their torn, burned bodies were hauled out by masked workers in a hazardous 10-hour operation.

"We don't know what caused the explosion," the mine general manager said, "but we're going to start an investigation tomorrow
morning to find out."

The 22nd body was carried out in a clattering mine rail car at 7:35 a. m. today. It had been about six hours since the first body was found.

The blast ripped through a shaft deep in the Viking mine about eight miles southwest of Terre Haute.

Pockets of intense heat and deadly coal gas threatened the operation and forced the rescuers to push forward with the greatest care.

They said there was danger of another explosion, and as they moved forward they sprayed chemicals to prevent it. State Police put up rope barriers 15 yards from the shaft to keep grieving relatives from danger.

The explosion was so far up
the shaft that nobody heard it,
and mine officials were unable to pinpoint the time.

Just when the explosion was discovered was not clear, either.
Apparently the first indication came about 7:45 p. m. when an air pressure gauge on the surface dropped to zero. An official attempted to telephone the miners
and got no response to repeated, frantic ringing.

"Then coal dust was seen billowing from the shaft."

"Twenty-two other miners in another section were immediately ordered to the surface."

What touched off the explosion was not known. There was speculation that the miners broke through into an old shaft in which deadly coal gas had accumulated.

As soon as the explosion was discovered, fresh air was poured into the mine, but it had no chance of penetrating the wall of swirling dust, smoke and fumes—
and, anyway, all 22 men apparently died in the blast.

The men were 265 feet below
the surface and about three miles back in the sloping shaft.

Birch Brooks, vice president and general manager of the Viking Coal Corp., said, "We will have to check their belt numbers
to identify them."

A rescue worker said: "You couldn't see anything in there.
The smoke was black as night."

The mine has a total of about 200 employees working in shifts

Williams Asks $5 Millions for Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams has asked for more than $5 million to establish 14 new embassies in Africa and strengthen his African bureau here.

The former governor of Michigan appeared before the House Appropriations Committee before he left on his current tour of Africa. The testimony was released today.

Williams requested $5,283,000 to build up the African bureau at the State Department and establish 14 new embassies and three consulates in Africa.

He said the rapid emergence of new nations in Africa had "left the bureau breathless." He is in charge of African affairs.

Williams said the additional diplomats were required to "help supply these people in the art of running a government."

Williams said each new embassy in Africa would have two senior diplomats, the ambassador and a deputy mission chief.

Each of these would have an American secretary. There would also be an administrative officer, an American fiscal officer to help him with money and housekeeping matters, and a native accountant to keep the books.

Says Attitudes Are Changing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The attitude of southern and border states on the school segregation-desegregation issue appears to be changing, Southern School News said today.

The monthly publication said the issue dominated only two of 12 southern and border state legislatures in session last month. And these two, Georgia and Louisiana, passed bills softening their "segregation or no schools" stand, the News said.

Desegregation occupied only a minor role in the Arkansas legislature for the first time since 1957, the News continued.

Can't Retire

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The textile industry here is in a bad way, union leaders said today. More than 60 per cent of the industry's workers are near retirement age but nobody can find sufficient funds to retire them.

Four Year Term

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House today passed a bill to set a four-year term for the city clerk at Pine Bluff, starting with the November 1962 general election.

matter of FACT

The symbol for American public schools is the "little red schoolhouse," though few of us have ever seen one. Most wooden schoolhouses are painted white or gray. But years ago the cheapest pigment was red. Schoolhouses and barns were both painted this thrifty color.

Explosion in Baton Rouge Injures 31

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Three explosions in a chemical wash house rocked the big Ethyl Corp. plant today, injuring 31 workers.

An Ethyl spokesman, reached at the plant, said six men were sent to city hospitals, and 25 others were treated at the plant medical center. He said as far as he could determine there were no deaths.

About 3,000 workers are employed in the big chemical center. The first explosion destroyed the brick 2½-story wash house, used to take impurities out of various chemicals.

Bricks rained over a wide area. J. D. Adams, an iron worker in the plant, said two or three men usually worked in the wash house.

"Everybody was told to get out," he said. "They were afraid of more explosions."

Adams said the men really started moving when the second explosion occurred. A third blast followed about five minutes later as workers ran the mile or so to safety.

A big, yellowish cloud spread over the area. A plant spokesman said what fumes there were drifted westward across the Mississippi River, away from the population area.

Only emergency traffic was allowed to go through the area which is the heart of the big petrochemical plants. The plants extract various chemicals from petroleum.

Relatives Dig for Savings of Woman

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — The grave of a dead cat was the only confirmed discovery today as a search went on for a fortune in oil royalties believed hidden by Miss Bertha Pitchford, 71, before her death last week.

Coroner Leander Moss found Miss Pitchford's purse containing $29,700 when he was called to the house after the death on Feb. 23. Under a pillow, he found $500.

Relatives busy with shovels, believe more money may be hidden on the grounds of the tiny, three-room house where she lived with her collection of cats.

Miss Pitchford received oil royalty checks for more than 20 years and was said to have converted the checks into cash. She owned 30 acres in a once-rich oil field near her cottage.

A banker told newsmen she once talked of burying money near a flower bed in her yard. The yard measures 75 by 100 feet. Her ramshackle house has no electricity and no plumbing.

Relatives dug around the house and searched the building Thursday. They reportedly plan to tear the house down.

At the end of the day they posted no trespassing signs and boarded windows on the house. They declined to discuss the search.

A deputy sheriff guard said the only discovery made by diggers so far was a dead cat. It had been laid to rest in a tiny grave.

Younger Brother Storm-Center

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

After 18 years of marriage, I can say ruefully that most of those years have been unhappy. I stuck it out because of the children and there was no one to help me. The main trouble has been my husband's younger brother and his wife — particularly the wife. Right or wrong, he and my husband side with her against me. For example, my husband is nice to them both while they do not talk to me at all. He goes to their home, helps them financially and neglects me and our children. This brother and that woman come first.

I am helpless. If I so much as mention matters, he either hits me or swears at me. I dread to go out with him, he is so everlasting critical. What to do, where to turn now, is it too late? — Troubled Wife

Dear Troubled Wife: It is never too late. But — I delete a note of self-pity and rancor in your letter. Be certain that the blame is not all one-sided. If what you say he true, then set about making a life for yourself. I am sending you my

Jury Has Fate of Accused Slayer of 3

By DEAN JOHNSON

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — The fate of Chester (Rocky) Weger, accused of murdering three women in Starved Rock State Park, rests today with a circuit court jury that has deliberated five hours.

The state is seeking the death penalty.

After considering the evidence in two sessions Thursday, the seven women and five men jurors retired for the night.

Weger, 21, was a handyman and kitchen helper at the park lodge when the women were beaten to death in a canyon March 14.

His attorney, John A. McNamara, said in his final argument the state failed to support its charge of murder. He said Weger was the scapegoat of ambitions of William Dummert, a chief deputy sheriff who, the attorney said, wanted to advance himself.

State's Atty. Robert E. Richardson said the slaying "cries out for vengeance. This is one time where the biblical adage 'an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth' pertains."

Weger's trial was on a charge of murder in the death of Lillian Oetting, 50. He also is accused of murdering Frances Murphy, 47, and Mildred Linquist. All wives of Chicago business executives, they were on a brief holiday at the park when slain.

leaflet "women at Work."

Dear Helen:

I am a man of 39 who neither drinks nor smokes and leads a clean life. I treat people like I want to be treated. I have been married 11 years and fathered two girls and a boy. My wife and I are separated a year. She runs around, enjoys beer joints and can't be depended upon.

A month after we went our own ways I met a real nice girl who doesn't drink or smoke and would make a wonderful wife and mother. It was love at first sight. She lives away from here. Every time she comes to our town my wife wants to fight her. Do you think my lady should stay home till I get my divorce and marry her, or do you think she would prove her love more by wanting to be near me? I feel you either love someone all the way or not at all. —Mixed up

Dear Mixed-up: First put your house in order. If you have grounds for divorce and if your religion permits it, get one; then sweet-talk your lady into marriage. But, be sure it's love on both sides or you'll be jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Dear Helen:

There are three children in our family; one boy and two girls. My brother is the oldest. I come in between. He and my young sister get away with little short of murder but let me make one misstep and I get the strap on my back, sides, hands and bottom. When I cry they say, "Shut up or I'll give you something to really cry about."

I do dishes, dust make beds and vacuum upstairs — and down. Please help me. I am Catholic. Print your answer. Mother reads my mail. She also reads your column. —S. O. S.

Dear S. O. S.: Tell your parish priest what you've told me. Ask him to discuss these beatings with your parents. No matter what you've done, or not done, a beating is not the answer.

Send your photo to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper.

Icebreakers Drift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Navy icebreakers and 544 men aboard are locked in a huge antarctic icepack and are slowly drifting westward in the Bellinghousen Sea.

The Defense Department, reporting this Tuesday, said the ships, the Glacier and the Staten Island, appear in no immediate danger. They have been locked in the icepack for a week.

A wind shift relieving the pressure of the ice would allow the icebreakers to free themselves, the Navy said.

sored and which both house and Senate have passed.

Bell declined to say what he and Faubus talked about. The governor, because he became upset, said they discussed school and legislative problems, but that he couldn't say any agreement was near.

"I have been bending ever effort toward trying to get one," he said.

Faubus and the Arkansas Education Association have been at odds over proposed revision of the Teacher Retirement System.

An AEA bill has passed both Houses. The House also has passed Faubus' bill and it is expected to come up soon in the Senate.

Bell, Faubus' campaign manager in last summer's Democratic primary election, is a school superintendent and AEA supporter.

Blames Nobody for Crash in Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Navy Court of Inquiry today absolved from blame pilots of both the Navy plane and the Brazilian airliner which collided near Rio de Janeiro in February 1960 with a loss of 61 lives.

A report to Secretary of the Navy John Connally said the air collision arose from a combination of factors—judgment errors on the part of the traffic controller on the ground, imprecise methods of traffic control, and weather.

The collision occurred as the U.S. Navy four-engine transport and the twin-engine Brazilian airliner were approaching separate fields near Rio.

Of the 38 persons aboard the Navy plane, all but three died. All 26 aboard the airliner were killed in the crash above famous Sugar Loaf Mountain, near the city.

The Navy dead included a number of members of the Navy band which was on a goodwill tour of Latin America.

Porkers Bow Out With a Loss to A&M

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' 70-68 loss to Texas A&M Thursday night was hard for the Razorbacks to swallow, but some consolation was the fact that Texas Tech won its game and the Aggies don't share the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

If Tech had lost to Texas, the winner of the Arkansas-A&M game would have tied for the title. And since Carroll Broussard beat the Hogs 70-68 with a last-second shot, the Razorbacks would have gone down in history as the team that missed a championship by one second.

As it is, Tech finishes first in the race, with an 11-3 record, A&M is second at 10-4 and the Hogs are third with 9-5. Texas, which lost to Tech 63-60 Thursday night, winds up fourth.

A crowd of 5,700, the largest of the season, watched the Arkansas-A&M lead change hands 11 times. The game was tied 15 times and the lead swapped hands four times in the last 3 1/2 minutes.

Pat Foster tied the score for Arkansas at 68-68 with a free throw with 1:21 left. A&M froze the ball, then called time out with 12 seconds left. Broussard got the ball at the circle, jumped, and it swished. Arkansas called time with one second left, and Jerry Rogers got off a long buzzer shot that fell four feet short of the basket.

Broussard and twins Pat and Don Stanley were too much for the Hogs. Don scored 21 points, Broussard 19 and Pat Stanley 18. Pat Foster and Jerry Carlton hit 18 each for the Hogs.

Clyde Rhoden, Arkansas, stellar senior, scored only eight points before fouling out, therefore falling short of the 1,000-point career mark. He wound up with 967 points in three seasons.

A&M hit 39.7 per cent from the field to 36.1 per cent for Arkansas, and both teams grabbed 46 rebounds.

Mena Ousted in Arkansas A Tourney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — David Kosover, a 5-8 guard, scored 40 points Thursday in leading England to a 66-53 victory over tough Mena in the quarterfinal round of the Class A state basketball tournament in Barton Coliseum.

Nettleton whipped McGehee 66-55 and Manila trimmed Judsonia 71-62 to complete quarterfinal action. Today, Marshall takes on Nettleton at 1:30 p.m. and England meets Manila at 8:30 p.m. in the semifinals.

Winners clash at 7 p.m. Saturday in the final game.

The England victory over Mena was a big upset and some court-side observers thought it might provide the Lions with enough momentum to go all the way to the championship.

Kosover hit 16 of 18 field goal attempts. Mena had a 29-1 record, and the Bearcats were led by Jerry Autry with 14 points, Mike Smith with 11 and Ken Lewis with 12.

Marshall already had advanced to the semifinal round with a 94-74 quarterfinal triumph over Batesville Wednesday.

Judsonia's Wood brothers, Danny and Billy, accounted for 48 of their team's 62 points in the losing effort against Manila. Billy hit 28 and Danny, a ninth-grader, scored 20.

Roland Mills led Manila to victory with 26 points and Harold Rainy scored 13.

McGehee gave Nettleton a fight for one quarter, then high-scoring Jerry Rook opened up a 10-point gap and Nettleton kept stretching it. Rook scored 25 points and Jimmy Turman had 18. Elmer Eldridge led McGehee with 20 points.
